

Facultad de Arquitectura,
Diseño y Urbanismo
Depto de DOC. y BIBLIOTECA

314

Forum

Works

Specification

08
Learning from sociable housing
Jessica Barker of Stolon Studio explains how lockdowns and home schooling have reinforced the value of housing projects with shared social space

10
Making the first move
Dennis Austin argues that instigating your own design projects can put you at the centre of the debate over future developments

12
Still standing
Ian Volner unpicks the lasting appeal of Michael Graves' Denver Central Library, a postmodernist building that still retains its dignity and grace

14
In practice
Pedro Gil photographed by Timothy Soar

18
Cove Ridge
Richard Weston reviews a house designed by Coffey Architects on the north Devon coast, where irregular geometries and carefully-positioned apertures combine to create an unforgettable play of light

34
Forest School
Charles Thomson of Studio 54 Architects talks to Claire Barton of Haverstock about his practice's refurbishment and extension of the Prep School at the edge of Epping Forest

46
Durslade Farm Shop
Graham Bizley on Moxon Architects' new-build farm shop, which sits among many listed original buildings on a Somerset farm now revitalised as a gallery and arts centre

54
Technical briefing: Is Passivhaus overrated?
Lee Marshall questions whether the cost of meeting the low-energy building standard is always the most effective way of allocating funds

56
Retrofit case study
Sanya Polescuk of SDA Architects describes her practice's retrofit of a 1950s terraced house and the challenge of balancing conservation issues with the need to make our housing stock more sustainable

68
Materials library
Squire & Partners director and head of interior design Maria Chueng explains how the practice's two materials libraries reflect the importance it attaches to materiality, craft and making

Cover
Cove Ridge by Coffey Architects
Photograph by Phil Coffey

Architecture today

2021 n°314

FADUR50925

R30925